

Kate is News Editor at the IEA (Institute of Economic Affairs). She joined in February 2016 having previously worked as Head of Communications at the Adam Smith Institute, where she handled media and donor relations. Kate regularly features across the national media, including appearances on BBC News, Sky News, Channel 4, Channel 5, ITV and BBC's Question Time. She has written for the Daily Telegraph, Spectator Coffee House, The Times' Red Box, Conservative Home, and writes a fortnightly column on Fridays for CityAM.